South Kingsville Pre-School
digs in for Sustainability Festival

Kindergarten children are learning about the environment at the South Kingsville Pre-School. In a nod to Melbourne’s Sustainable Living Festival (February 11-26), the children are propagating peas and beans for their flourishing vegetable garden.

‘We believe learning about the environment plays an important part in every child’s development,’ says South Kingsville Pre-School Director, Elissa Stafford.

‘The children love getting into the garden and the planting workshops get them exploring the cycles of nature and how things grow. They are naturally inquisitive about the world around them and opportunities like this help build awareness of their place in a more sustainable world.’

The South Kingsville Pre-School currently has a number of vacancies in its 3-year-old programs. For more information please contact the kindergarten on 9399 3000, ext 1.

Photo opportunities

There will be some wonderful opportunities to photograph the children working in our vegetable garden. Please contact the kindergarten to arrange a time.
