These are our herb and cacti pots. They allow the children to have a sensory experience and also a tactile experience. The children have been very interested in these pots. Some of these herbs have been used in our cooking experiences. The children use water from our water tanks to water the herbs but learn that the cacti don’t need water to grow.