Additional background information

Early childhood services must ensure that their processes for the collection, storage, use, disclosure and disposal of personal and health information meet the requirements of the appropriate privacy legislation and the Health Records Act 2001.

The following are examples of practices impacted by the privacy legislation:

- Enrolment records: Regulations 160, 161 and 162 of the Education and Care Services National Regulations 2011 detail the information that must be kept on a child's enrolment record, including personal details about the child and the child's family, parenting orders and medical conditions. This information is regarded as sensitive information (refer to Definitions) and must be stored securely and disposed of appropriately.
- Attendance records: Regulation 158 of the Education and Care Services National Regulations 2011 requires details of the date, child's full name, times of arrival and departure, and signature of the person delivering and collecting the child or the Nominated Supervisor/educator, to be recorded in an attendance record kept at the service. Contact details may be kept in a sealed envelope at the back of the attendance record or separate folder for evacuation/emergency purposes.
- Medication records and incident, injury, trauma and illness records: Regulations 87 and 92 of the Education and Care Services National Regulations 2011 require the Approved Provider of a service to maintain incident, injury, trauma and illness records, and medication records which contain personal and medical information about the child.
- Handling and storage of information: Limited space can often be an issue in early childhood service environments, and both authorised employees and the Approved Provider need access to secure storage for personal and health information. Documents might be required to be stored off the service premises. Wherever confidential information is stored, it is important that it is not accessible to unauthorised staff or other persons. When confidential information is required to be taken off-site (e.g. on excursions, a list of children with medical conditions and contact numbers will be required), consideration must be given to how this is transported and stored securely.
- Computerised records: It is important that computerised records containing personal or health information are stored securely, and can only be accessed by authorised personnel with a password. Services need to incorporate risk management measures to ensure that passwords are recorded and stored in a secure place at the service, and to limit access to the information only to other authorised persons (refer to the Information Technology Policy).
- Forms: Enrolment forms and any other forms used to collect personal or health information should have the service's Privacy Statement (refer to Attachment 4) attached.
- Collecting information for which there is no immediate use: A service should only collect the information it needs and for which it has a specific purpose. Services should not collect information that has no immediate use, even though it may be useful in the future.

Australian Privacy Principles

The commonwealth government made extensive amendments to the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) with effect from 12 March 2014. Under these changes, organisations with an annual turnover greater than $ 3 million are required to comply with 13 new Australian Privacy Principles (APPs), which replace the current National Privacy Principles (NPPs). (ELAA advises services to seek specific advice from a legal professional about whether their organisation needs to comply with the Australian Privacy Principles)

From 12 March 2014, the APPs will apply to all existing and future collections of personal information. This means, that all existing arrangements for collecting, and handling personal information in services to which the old NPPs applied must be reviewed by services to ensure they comply with the new APPs.

Collection processes

Type of personal and health information to be collected

The service will only collect the information needed, and for which there is a legitimate purpose related to the service's functions and/or legislative, regulatory or funding obligations.

The type of information collected and held by the service includes (but is not limited to) personal information, including health information, regarding:

- children and parents/guardians prior to and during the child's attendance at the service (this information is collected in order to provide and/or administer services to children and parents/guardians)
- job applicants, employees, members, volunteers and contractors (this information is collected in order to manage the relationship and fulfil the service's legal obligations)
- contact details of other parties that the service deals with

The service will collect information on the following identifiers (refer to Definitions):

- information required to access the Kindergarten Fee Subsidy for eligible families (refer to Fees Policy)
- tax file number for all employees, to assist with the deduction and forwarding of tax to the Australian Tax Office – failure to provide this would result in maximum tax being deducted
- for childcare services only: Customer Reference Number (CRN) for children attending childcare services to enable the family to access the Commonwealth Government's Child Care Benefit (CCB) – failure to provide this would result in parents/guardians not obtaining the benefit.

The service will not use these government related identifiers as its own identifier of the individual unless it is required or authorised by law or a court order.

Method of collecting personal and health information

Personal and health information about individuals, either in relation to themselves or their children enrolled at the service, will generally be collected directly via forms filled out by parents/guardians. Other information may be collected from job applications, face-to-face interviews and telephone calls. Individuals from whom personal information is collected will be provided with a copy of the service's Privacy Statement (Attachment 4).

When the service receives personal information about an individual in relation to themselves or children enrolled at the service from a source other than directly from the individual or the parents/guardians of the child concerned, the person receiving the information will notify the individual, or the parents/guardians of the child to whom the information relates, of receipt of this information. The service will advise that individual of their right to request access to this information. Access will be granted in accordance with the relevant legislation.

When the service receives unsolicited personal information about an individual, it will destroy the information if it is of the view that it could not have collected the information about the individual under the APP if it had solicited the information.
